Speakers for IBM

I’m so happy to announce, courtesy of Tom Cox, that our next few meetings will be of special interest to members with IBM. Tom has arranged some of his personal health providers to speak at our meetings. For February we have his speech therapist, Tiffany McCusker, who is helping Tom with swallowing issues.

In April, we have neurologist, Dr Stephanie Palma presenting, who is using neuromuscular Electrical stimulation in Tom’s treatment.

Also, Josh Miller from Bioness, to speak soon about their neuro muscular

February’s Speaker

Tiffany McCusker

Products That Benefit

This product I can personally recommend. When my leg muscles were at their very worst, the EZ Step enabled me to climb the stairs in my house and to step on and off a curb. ~ Cheryle

EZ-Step Stair Climbing Cane

EZ-Step Stair Climbing Cane is a unique, patented, one of a kind mobility aide that makes virtually any stairway accessible to anyone who has difficulty with stairs. Using the EZ-Step reduces the range of motion required to flex the knee while ascending or descending stairs, curbs, sidewalks, swimming pools, automobiles or walk-in tubs. Because it is lightweight it may also be used as a Quad Cane. $82.99

ShopWheelchair.com

Useful Information and Tips

A Memo from member Kim Brooks

Please tell any whose insurance will not cover cellcept/mycophenalate or imuran/azathioprine for myositis, I found out that if you purchase the $100/A year Sam's Club card, you can get the generics for $40/120 pills without using any insurance.

Helpful Resources

Patient Advocate Foundation (PAF) (800.532.5274, www.patientadvocate.org) offers a range of services for patients facing medical debt crisis issues, including referrals to charity care and assistance with setting up payment plans. If a patient has a diagnosis that qualifies for copay assistance, the patient may be referred to PAF’s Co-Pay Relief Program to determine eligibility.

Needy Meds (800.503.6897, www.needymeds.org) provides a prescription savings card that enables those eligible, to get discounts in certain medications at participating pharmacies throughout the nation.

RxAssist.org offers a database of drug assistance programs provided by pharmaceutical companies that enable patients to receive assistance with numerous medications.

The Partnership for Prescriptions Assistance (www.pparx.org) also helps people find prescription assistance programs, as well as free or low cost healthcare clinics.

Medicare Rights Center Hotline (800.333.4114) is available to seniors or to those with a disability. When using the service, callers can learn about Medicare and other resources available to them for obtaining public health insurance. The Hotline also offers assistance for dealing with medical bills.

2018 Annual Patient Conference
Louisville KY
September 6th~ 9th
Ronnie Genser shared with us hard won advice about how to be prepared for difficult life events.

We all have our insurance card and list of doctors and lists of medications and a calendar of appointments, but do you know

- About the latest form the State of Georgia has created to help you be prepared so that your wishes will be implemented during a trip in an ambulance?
- The difference between a Georgia POLST and a Georgia Advance Directive for Health Care and when each is needed?
- If your loved ones truly know what your end-of-life medical wishes are as well as your end-of-life goals and values?
- Do you know have a Power of Attorney at your bank so that someone can pay bills and withdraw money while you are sick?

Ronnie has deep experience with these topics. She graciously recounted stories from her own life which highlighted the difficulties and problems a relative can face when a loved one is in the hospital or dies suddenly.

She also highlighted a series of problems including what can result, if one dies suddenly or becomes incapacitated, such as: does someone in your family know how to access your computer or WiFi? Do they know which bills need to be paid and how you do it? On a day-to-day basis, Ronnie’s business Bereavement Navigators www.bereavementnavigators.com, helps clients and their loved ones prepare to handle these types of tasks, as well as many other tasks their loved ones may need to do.

The talk focused on the relatively new Georgia POLST form. Because it is signed by you (the patient) and your physician, no lawyer is needed. You should have your doctor enter it into your medical record and make a copies for yourself. This is a form you keep on your refrigerator along with your list of medications, doctors’ names and emergency contact names and numbers when you have a serious medical conditions so that emergency personal and family members can easily find this information. You may also want to keep a copy in your vehicle and take a copy when you travel, in case you become ill away from home.

*Note: when someone is not mentally competent to make their own decisions about their end-of-life wishes and end-of-life values and goals, other rules apply about who can sign a Georgia POLST form for the person.

The POLST form allows patients to specify their wishes for CPR use or AND (Allow Natural Death), to allow specific comfort measures, directives and options that may not be offered in the Advance Directive unless they are In Writing in Part 2 of the Directive.

As of January 1, 2016, Medicare is required to pay for 2 separate half hour consultations with your physician to discuss Advanced Care Planning, consisting of sharing your particular values and goals for end of life care. (I hope this great service will not be on the U.S. Government’s ‘chopping block’ soon)

Did you know that according to Georgia LAW, emergency medical personnel, are required to do everything possible to sustain life if you are not breathing and are in an ambulance, regardless of what is stated in your Georgia Advance Directive for Healthcare. However, a POLST is a Medical Order, which legally allows medics to follow your treatment preferences. It works WITH the Advanced Directive and often before the Directive can is used as it is a medical order.

Ms Genser also recommended a small (88 page) $7.00 paperback book titled Hard Choices for Loving People by Hank Dunn. It can be ordered from Amazon. This booklet explains feeding tubes, nutrition mechanical ventilation and things like palliative care, and what your options are.

TO get a copy of the Georgia Advance Directive for Healthcare, go to: http://aging.dhs.georgia.gov/publications-0> and scroll down to Elder Support

There is a national POLST Paradigm website <www.polst.org/advance-care-planning/how-does-polst-work>

Or go to http:polst.org/programs-in-your-state/>

There was so much more in Ronnie’s presentation, than I can relate in this brief article. It is difficult to know which specific topics need to be discussed by family members and caregivers with a patient because each case, each situation is so vastly different and each solution and wish is so personal. I hope we can spread the word about this important resource and the need for this form in each household.

Ronnie of Bereavement Navigators, (404) 843-9640, is also able to help people find such things as:

- Free services that help families find nursing homes and assisted living homes that fit your needs
- Find a Geriatric Care Manager for the medical component of patient care, whether in the hospital or for home care
- Help for understanding the Medicaid process
- Help with setting up a spreadsheet that keeps all the information a family member might need to know about bills, insurance, medications, location of social security info and birth certificate
We share!
If you have experience with a mobility aid, information on insurance, doctors or medication, please pass the information to me and I will post it in the next issue so that other members can benefit from your knowledge.

We are always looking for speakers, so if you see someone who you feel would be an interesting speaker, ask them if they would make a presentation.
